Our Story

Hester Canterbury is more than a place to live, it's a new expression of retirement living, where independence and comfort meet a deep sense of belonging.

Designed for those ready to rightsize while keeping life rich with purpose and possibility, it offers a setting where every day feels quietly meaningful and beautifully complete. Inspired by the pioneering spirit of modernist artist Joy Hester, this intimate collection of just thirty-four apartments draws on the expertise of award-winning architects and interior designers. Every detail reflects Joy's belief in individuality and expression, creating a community that feels different, yet deeply familiar.

At the heart of Hester Canterbury lies a spirit of belonging: an appreciation for thoughtful design, genuine connection and the gentle rhythm of nature. The gardens, shared spaces and surrounding environment invite calm reflection and effortless social connection, a setting where care and creativity intertwine.

Hester Canterbury is part of the BASSCARE story, a not-for-profit organisation that began in 1956 when Fred and Colleen Morgan started preparing meals for older members of the local community. From those humble beginnings, BASSCARE has grown into a network offering a range of lifestyle and community services, including Morgan Glen Iris which offers assisted living, and Faversham House, our neighbouring residential aged care home that sits right next door to Hester Canterbury.

'We simply provide the space, it's the people who bring it to life'

'Life, beautifully simplified'

Set along Chatham Road in the heritage-rich suburb of Canterbury, just 10 kilometres from Melbourne's CBD, Hester Canterbury offers a way of living that feels effortless. Light fills each spacious apartment, where high ceilings and thoughtful proportions create a sense of relaxed sophistication. Every element has been chosen with care, blending comfort and elegance to celebrate a life well lived.

From the natural texture of Urban Oak floorboards to the smooth stone benchtops and premium Miele appliances, each home is crafted for both beauty and function. Zonal heating and cooling ensure year-round comfort, while a heated towel rail in the ensuite adds a touch of indulgence. Many apartments feature a study or office, providing space for creativity or contemplation.

Security and peace of mind are ever-present, with smart card entry, video intercom access and a 24/7 monitored emergency call system. Arranged across three independent wings with only four apartments per floor, privacy is part of the design. Direct lift access from your secure underground car space, a private storage unit and a climate-controlled wine room with individual lockers add to the sense of effortless living.

For those ready to rightsize their home and enrich their lifestyle, Hester Canterbury offers more than maintenance-free living, it's a place where comfort, freedom and refined living exist in perfect balance.

'Beautifully designed communal spaces ensure spending quality time with family, friends or the community is extra special'

A place to gather, connect and celebrate beautifully designed shared spaces make every moment with family, friends, or neighbours feel that little bit more special. At Hester Canterbury, these areas are more than amenities, they're elegant extensions of your home, thoughtfully created to bring people together in comfort and style.

The Club Lounge and Bar, private dining room, sunlit library, fully equipped gym, premium cinema and beautifully landscaped entertaining terrace all reflect the grace of a luxury hotel yet feel deeply personal. Whether it's morning tea in the lounge, a leisurely lunch in the dining room, or sharing stories and laughter over Friday drinks, every experience feels easy and inviting.

Perhaps you'll enjoy a classic film on the big screen, celebrate a birthday with a barbecue, or spend a quiet afternoon reading the paper beside the fish pond in the garden. Each space invites connection, to others, to the moment and to the simple pleasures of daily life. For those special occasions, you can even reserve a communal space for family gatherings, events, or games nights, choosing to self-cater or have BASSCARE'S professional chefs craft a menu just for you.

At Hester Canterbury, the beauty of community lies in the freedom to share life as you wish, surrounded by warmth, ease and a touch of everyday magic.
